200 Question BDSM Checklist - Printable Version

This checklist is formatted to print correctly on standard 8-1/2"x11" paper. For personal use only.

Checklists are frequently difficult to complete due to the complex variety to what we enjoy. When we try to fill them out as Tops, Bottoms, Dominants, Submissives, etcetera there is usually confusion over fetishes that aren't physically interactive between partners or over activities that may not clear as to who is giving and who receiving. A sincere effort has been made here to reduce this kind of confusion, but bdsm checklists will never be perfect enough that you won't probably have to go to your partner and confer about how to answer at least one item. Take it as a blessing in disguise - a bdsm checklist is only supposed to get a conversation started. That's what the tool is made for. Remember, it's just a beginning to negotiation, not an end in itself.

Done to/for Self: Read this as how you feel about being on the receiving end of the act.

(As examples, here Whipping would refer to you being whipped, while Massage would mean you're the one on the table.)

Done to/for Others: Read this as how you feel about having someone else receive this act.

(In the examples above, you would be delivering the Whipping, or serving your partner a Massage.)

Tried: Have you tried this? Circle Yes or No for each.

Rating: How does/might this feel to you? Use the chart below as a guide, and circle two answers together if you're "in-between."

/	Not Applicable	Actions that are physical impossibilities. Draw a slash through the box for these.
?	Curious	Maybe you're never tried this, or only once, and want to experience more before deciding how much you like it.
!	Essential	This is something that you can't see yourself enjoying a scene/date/relationship without.
5	Love	You love doing whatever it is.
4	Like	You like doing whatever it is.
3	Don't Mind	You can take this or leave it, but will probably do it for your partner.
2	Dislike	You dislike this but will put up with it for your partner.
1	Hate	You hate this but will put up with it for your partner.
×	Soft Limit	Something you cannot attempt at this time but might be possible in the future.
X	Hard Limit	Something you will not ever attempt.
